Four Control Zones Set Up

Reich Carved Down

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Germany's frontiers were rolled back to the boundaries of Dec. 31, 1937, today in a joint occupation statement by the Allied powers.

The statement, setting up occupation zones for the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia, recreates the German nation as it was before Hitler's annexation of Austria and Czechoslovakia. The declaration was made simultaneously in Washington, Moscow, London and Paris.

No announcement was made regarding a joint control arrangement for Austria, which is expected to be set up in the fairly near future. Treatment of Austria presumably will be tempered by the Moscow declaration of 1943 which looked toward a restoration of Austrian freedom, depending on Austrians' efforts in behalf of their own liberation.

The Austrian situation is complicated by the recent establishment of the Renner government in Vienna behind the Red army, which has not yet been contacted by representatives of Britain, the United States and France.

Nor was there any clarification of what is to be done in Czechoslovakia, partly occupied by Russian troops on the east and American troops in the west. The Czech government, a member of the United Nations, has returned to its capital at Prague, east of the Red army occupation frontier.

An American diplomatic mission reached Prague last week.

Final settlement of Czech boundaries is considered a matter for a peace conference.

With Germany's unconditional surrender, the statement said, there no longer is any central government of authority there "capable of accepting responsibility for the maintenance of order, the administration of the country and compliance with the requirements of the victorious powers."

"It is in these circumstances necessary, without prejudice to any subsequent decisions that may be taken respecting Germany," the pronouncement went on, "to make provision for the cessation of any further hostilities on the part of the German armed forces, for the maintenance of order in Germany and for the administration of the country, and to announce the immediate requirements with which Germany must comply."

Four occupational zones were set up and allotted to the victorious Allied powers as follows:

An eastern zone to the Soviet Union.

A northwestern zone to the United Kingdom.

A southwestern zone to the United States.

A western zone to France.

In addition, an area of "greater

Gen. Ike Given Hearty Welcome By Reds in Berlin

By DREW MIDDLETON

New York Times Correspondent Representing the Combined American Press

BERLIN, June 5 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower landed at Tempelhof airfield here at 11 a. m. today to attend the first meeting of the Allied control council for Germany.

He flew from his Frankfurt headquarters to meet Marshal Gregory Zhukov of Russia, Field Marshal Montgomery of Great Britain, and Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny of France in the silent capital of the Third Reich.

Gen. Ivan Sokolovsky of the Red army and Gen. Polutnik Bersarin greeted Eisenhower at the sunsplashed airfield. A Red army band struck up the Star Spangled Banner and the Russian national anthem while American and Russian officers stood at salute.

"It is a tremendous honor for me to be here and to greet commanders of the great Red army which did so much to bring the German to his knees," Eisenhower said in a brief broadcast over the Russian radio.

The American commander inspected a guard of honor of Siberian infantry drawn up in a long line on the airfield apron. Later Russian troops marched past and Eisenhower took the salute.

After the salute the official party was driven through suburbs of the ruined German capital to the Koepnick district, a suburban area the Russians have taken over to house visiting generals and their staffs.

The American commander's temporary headquarters are a spacious white villa surrounded by several smaller villas where Gen Clay, Ambassador Murphy and others in the party will stay.

The long convoy of limousines drove through a dead and silent city. The only people in the streets were sentries and smartly uniformed Russian women military police, who guided the party with signal flags of bright yellow and red. At the head of each street leading into those over which the Allies traveled, however, stood little knots of silent Germans.

Nearly every house along the route was decorated with American, Russian, British and French flags and other flags stuck into piles of rubble dotting every block.

KOBE SEARED BY FIRE BOMBS—More than four hundred Superfortresses left Kobe, Japan's principal seaport, in flaming ruins under the impact of 3000 tons of fire bombs which rained down on congested industrial areas. The entire length of the city came under the bombers' sights in the 15th incendiary strike at Japanese cities by the 21st Bomber Command.

Patton Parade

Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., colorful commander of the victorious Third Army, will be given a gala welcome by Boston after he arrives at Bedford airport Thursday for his first public appearance in this country since the fall of Germany.

Plans for a motor parade from Bedford to the Hatch Memorial Shell in Boston were announced today at the Governor's office.

Accompanied by a party of 50 officers and enlisted men of the Third Army, Gen. Patton is due to land at Bedford at 4 p. m. Gov. and Mrs. Tobin will greet the party.

The motorcade will proceed on South rd. to Bedford center, on Route 4 to Massachusetts ave., Lexington, thence to Memorial dr., Cambridge.

The parade will go to Cottage Farm bridge, cross the Charles river to Commonwealth ave., Allston, and head for downtown Boston

At Arlington st. the motorcade will go to Boylston st., Tremont, Park, Beacon, Embankment rd., to the Shell.

Greetings of the commonwealth will be extended by Gov. Tobin there at 5:30. Gen. Patton is expected to speak at the ceremonies.

The general and his party will be honored at a State dinner at night.

Rip Kobe in Snow, Fog

By ROBBIN COONS

GUAM, June 5 (AP)—Approximately 450 Superfortresses battled through snow, fog, thunderheads, accurate anti-aircraft fire and fairly strong fighter opposition today to transform the industrial and transportation center of Kobe into a mass of smoke and flame.

The B-29's, flying through weather so bad they had to make the trip without fighter escort, found perfect weather over Japan's largest port city and spent an hour setting it afire with 3000 tons of incendiary bombs in a blazing first anniversary celebration of the initial Superfort raid.

About 40 Jap fighters, some fairly aggressive, were sent to intercept the tight bomber formations, and a few flew above the B-29's to drop phosphorous bombs. But they couldn't keep the daylight attacks from coming in dead on their target in the third fire strike at Japan's sixth largest city.

Six hours after the last bomber turned away, Japanese broadcasts conceded that fires were only gradually being extinguished. Tokyo said fire bombs also set blazes in Mikagemachi and Ashiya, industrial towns respectively two and six miles east of Kobe

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, June 5 (INS)—The War Department disclosed today eight B-29 Superfortresses were lost from the "very large" force that attacked Kobe, Japan's sixth largest city, with incendiary bombs yesterday. It was the third incendiary attack on the city. Results were "excellent."

Atlee Opens Labor Party's Campaign

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Clement R. Attle, leader of the Labor Party, called tonight for a new war for economic freedom and promised the British people a victory as complete as the one over Germany if they gave the government "the will and the power to act."

He opened the Labor Party's campaign for the general election July 5 in an address prepared for delivery over the British radio.

Britain Gave 8 'Old' U. S. Destroyers to the Russians

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill disclosed today that Britain met Russian demands for part of the Italian fleet by turning over eight former American destroyers among other ships.

The United States also turned over some ships, mostly merchantmen, but also including the U. S. cruiser Milwaukee, Churchill told Commons.

The Russians, he said, raised the question of the disposition of the Italian navy immediately after Italy's surrender. They asked for one battleship, one cruiser, eight destroyers, four submarines and 40,000 tons of merchant shipping.

The agreement to turn ships over to Russia was reached at Tehran, he said.

Since Italian ships were built mostly for temperate waters of the Mediterranean, Churchill continued, it was decided they would continue in Allied service and an equivalent number of British warships and merchantmen would be delivered to the Red navy on temporary loan. Churchill said this was the action taken:

"Half of the merchant ships and all the warships, with the exception of the United States cruiser Milwaukee, were provided by the British government.

"The British warships handed over were the battleship Royal Sovereign, eight former American destroyers and four modern submarines.

"Further, a destroyer was made available to provide spare parts."

Churchill said he assumed "full personal responsibility" for the transaction.

He did not make clear just what the U. S. contribution was outside the Milwaukee, but it was presumed America supplied half of the 40,000 tons of merchant shipping the Russians sought.

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Grew and Admiral Leahy, the President's chief of staff, today were called into conference with President Truman and Joseph E. Davies, who returned recently from a special mission to London.

Okinawa Fall Seen in 4 Days

By HAMILTON W. FARON

GUAM, June 5 (AP)—Marines fought for complete control of the last Jap held airfield on Okinawa today in the wake of a surprise amphibious landing which put strong American forces on three sides of the enemy's Oroku peninsula garrison.

Tough paratroopers and Marine raiders of the Sixth Division overran half of the big Naha airdrome yesterday as they plunged ahead from the southern shore of Naha bay.

Tenth Army troops slashed ahead in the central and eastern areas, reaching the southern coast and registering advances up to three miles, a record for the campaign.

Adm. Nimitz in a hearty message of "Well done" to the officers and men of Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner's 10th Army, foresaw the conclusion of the Okinawa campaign within the next "three or four days" if they "can maintain their high-speed maneuvers."

Supplies were parachuted to battle line troops as the clinging mud, which for days slowed troop advances, continued to hold supply vehicles in its grip.

Surprisingly light opposition was encountered by Maj. Gen. Lemuel Shepherd's Fourth Regiment as it plunged ahead from an 1800-yard beachhead to attack Naha airfield, best of the Japanese-built dromes on the island.

In American hands, the airfield —it has at least three long runways—will serve as a potent base for bomber strikes against Japan proper.

Murder on Park Avenue

Textile Man Shot; Quiz Lady Vilma

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—With only fragmentary clues in their possession, police frankly admitted today they were baffled in the mysterious slaying of an elderly, wealthy textile executive as he stood in the doorway of his Park ave. hotel apartment.

WIFE OF MURDERED MAN—Mrs. Marion Langford, wife of wealthy New York textile manufacturer, Albert E. Langford, who was murdered today, is shown dining with Carlyle Blackwell before her marriage to Langford. She was then Mrs. Robert Grimes.

Police Capt. Vincent J. Kiernan said there were no suspects and he had no theory as to the motive for the shooting last night of Albert E. Langford, 63, sales manager for Conlin & Smith, a textile concern.

Shortly before 9 o'clock last night, Langford was found by his wife, Marion, slumped on the hallway floor of their six-room suite in the Hotel Marguery, tenanted by many prominent social and theatrical figures. A bullet had entered his right cheek and lodged in the brain.

Mrs. Langford, described by police as a twice-married drama patron and one-time fiancee of movie actor Carlyle Blackwell, told detectives two men had appeared at the door a short while before and that she had heard a scuffle and a thud. The door was open and the corridor empty, she said, adding she was in a bedroom when the shooting occurred.

The only clues to the slaying were a spent .32 caliber cartridge and a .38 caliber bullet.

Meanwhile, detectives questioned friends and neighbors of the Langfords, including Lady Vilma Kempton, who had been a guest at the Langford home earlier in the evening.

Every part of the hotel was searched but the death weapon was not found. All hotel employes were questioned.

Police said powder burns on Langford's face indicated the shot had been fired at close range and by someone shorter than the textile salesman.

Detectives said investigation had shown two men had been taken upstairs in the hotel elevator and had inquired about Rafealo Diaz, a Metropolitan Opera Co. singer, who died two years ago, who reportedly had been a protege of the Langfords.

How the two men left the building has not been determined. Police said none of the employes saw them leave.

Police quoted Mrs. Langford as giving the following description of events preceding the shooting:

Her husband arrived at the apartment while she was entertaining Lady Vilma, who left shortly thereafter. Mrs. Langford went to her bedroom to change her clothes.

While dressing, Langford told her two men were at the door asking to see her. She said she did not know them and declined to speak to them. Langford went to deliver the message.

A few minutes later she heard loud voices, a scuffle and a thud. She ran out and found her husband sprawled on the floor.

Mrs. Langford, who before her marriage three years ago was Mrs. Marion Grimes, is the daughter of Joseph Mayer, described by authorities as a retired public utilities executive. (Interna-

Lloyd George Wills Estate to Wife, 3 Children

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—The will of Lloyd George divided his lands and goods among his widow, two daughters and a younger son, but left no legacy to his elder son, who succeeded to the earldom created by the King last New Year's.

A week ago the new earl, Maj. Richard Lloyd George, said his father "has not left me a bean in his will" because of his refusal to go into politics.

The 750-acre estate at Churt Surrey was divided, with the old house and contents bequeathed to his son, Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, minister of fuel and power; two houses to his daughter, Lady Owen Carey Evans; a cottage to his secretary, an orchard to his widow, and the rest of that property to his daughter, Megan.

The picturesque farmhouse Ty Newydd at Llanystymdwy in North Wales was willed to his widow, with its contents. The widow also receives a bronze bust of Lloyd George and a prized picture of Marrakech painted by Winston Churchill.

The equivalent of $4000 was killed to Albert J. Sylvester, the stateman's secretary for 25 years. Servants and clerks also are to receive payments graduated according to their length of service.

Where Veal Goes: It Feeds Foxes

PORTLAND, Ore., June 5 (AP)—Oregon dairymen are giving away day-old bull calves as fox food without charge because of low OPA hide prices and slaughter restrictions which discourage raising them for veal, according to Oscar Hagg of the Oregon Dairy Ass'n executive committee.

He stated that up to six months ago day-old calves brought $1.50 each from fox farmers.

"They got so plentiful the fox-growers wouldn't pay anything, so we give them to them just to get rid of the animals," he said. "I do it and so do others."

NEW YORK, June 5 (INS)—Soviet Marshal Timoshenko today received the Order of Suvorov "for his successful co-ordination of operations of the second and third Ukranian fronts," according to a Moscow radio broadcast heard by CBS.

Sonja Henie Urges All GIs Have Second Honeymoon

By LARRY NEWMAN

PARIS, June 5 (INS)—Sonja Henie, skating beauty of the movies, today advocated a second honeymoon for all GIs when they return from overseas.

A few days with their American wives and sweethearts will dispel any ideas they may have that things have changed at home, said the blonde film star who is now touring American hospitals in France.

"A second honeymoon," she said, "will erase in anyone's mind the misapprehension the GI has been unduly influenced by French or British or any other European girls.

"The boys I've talked to are ready to get back to their American girls again, and from what I know, having just left New York a few days ago, the girls at home are certainly 'sweating it out' for the return of their sweethearts."

We've Gone Topsy Turvy Along With the Weather

Yes, we know this is upside down and maybe you think we've gone hoops. Well, we have, and if you haven't you're not in New England these dreary January-in-June days.

Lookit the ways things are—by the calendar June's supposed to be bustin' out all over for five days now and all we've seen is clouds, rain, rain, clouds, and by way of variety, occasional showers.

This is supposed to be vacation time and the only one enjoying time off (and plenty of it) is a fellow from the South called J. Q. Sol, known better as Old Sol. Tain't fair, any way you look at it.

We keep asking the weatherman how's about getting things back to the good old days when June meant moon, croon, and lovey birdes in filmy white veils instead of sou'westers and hip boots.

Raring back in a pompous pose, he gets off this answer: "The trend hasn't made everyone unhappy and it might turn rather suddenly and become warm. There is no immediate indication that the hay crop won't be good and water is the most unusual fact connected with the current spring."

Get the idea? Even the weatherman is mixed up and having trouble saying hay crops are good and lots of water is being stored up and everything's most unusual and it will be four or five days before things get better.

Mushroom Bomb

SALT LAKE CITY, June 5 (AP)—When a section of the sidewalk literally exploded, a botany professor not an ordnance expert, was called in.

Dr. Walter P. Cottam of the University of Utah said a common edible mushroom, whose cell sap was greatly increased by heavy rains, caused about 2250 pounds of pressure per square inch beneath the walk and blew it up.

AL Peace Draft Eased by VFW

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—A peacetime draft plan which would provide military training without requiring youths to leave home environment for long periods was proposed to Congress today by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A substitute for the American Legion-backed proposal for one year of continuous training at the age of 18, the VFW program calls for training in the National Guard or Naval and Marine Reserve units for a three-year period.

Under the VFW proposal, as explained to the House postwar military policy committee by Omar K. Ketchum, national legislative representative, compulsory military training would be given in a boy's own community without disturbing his home life or his education.

The trainee automatically would become a member of the National Guard or a Naval or Marine Reserve unit at a predetermined age, would participate in weekly drills and training periods at his local armory and take two weeks of training every summer at a reserve camp.

Ketchum said the VFW would insist on a specific ban against use of trainees in civil emergencies, such as strikes.

Ketchum testified after John Thomas Taylor, head of the American Legion legislative committee, had endorsed a full year of continuous training.

Mrs. Lorena Hahn of Lincoln, Neb., chairman of the legion auxiliary postwar committee, recommended universal training "solely upon the proposition that it is necessary for the nation's security."

Taylor declared immediate enactment of a peacetime draft "would be the greatest possible assurance to our neighbors in the world family that at last America is taking seriously its international responsibilities.

Asserting "there is nothing in the proposal of universal military training that can or will breed wars or foster militarism in America," the Legion witness added "There can be no stronger influence for lasting peace, no greater safeguard against lawless international aggression."

Taylor declared the Legion-backed proposal, which would require most able-bodied youths to take a year of military training when they reach the age of 18 or shortly thereafter, "cannot be likened in any respect to the European systems of compulsory military service and immense standing armies."

Churchill Calls De Gaulle Syria Charges Untrue

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today disputed Gen. De Gaulle's charge the British had stirred up trouble in Syria and declared Britain was ready to withdraw all her troops the moment a treaty was effected between France and the Levant states.

Churchill declared Britain had "absolutely no ambitions of any kind in the Levant states."

The prime minister declared he favored only Britain, the United States and France negotiating the French-Levant dispute.

Churchill made his statement to Commons after explaining "some harm" would be done by leaving unanswered some of the statements made by De Gaulle.

"Far from stirring up agitation in the Levant states, our whole influence has been used in precisely the other direction," he declared.

Churchill said he also cautioned De Gaulle that the sending of French reinforcements to Syria would create a bad impression, but that despite this French forces began to land there May 17.

Secrecy Hides War Criminals

LONDON, June 5 (AP)—Lord Wright, chairman of the War Crimes Commission, said today the board had agreed to keep secret for an indefinite period the names of Nazis indicted as war criminals.

Throughout an hour's press conference, he refused to confirm identity of nearly 3000 accused—with the exception of Reichmarshal Hermann Goering—and declined to advance specific reasons for the mystery.

Russia does not participate on the commission.

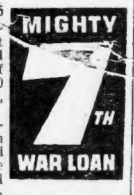
School Pupils' $107,741,730 Big Help in War

WASHINGTON, June 5 (INS)—The Treasury Department announced today school children have sponsored 17,595 pieces of military equipment through bond purchases of $107,741,730 since August, 1944.



This equipment, each piece marked with the name of the school financing it, includes 7866 ambulances, 115 hospital service planes and 249 fighter planes.

Ted R. Gamble, national director of the Treasury's War Finance Division, in making the announcement, said:

"Letters from fighting men in all the far-flung theaters of operation where the schools' contributions have seen service, provide eloquent evidence their efforts have been appreciated."

He cited a sailor's letter to students in Houlton, Me., which said:

"I was just out of school three years ago, and we were buying bonds and stamps then, too. I've now seen the good that can come from these and want you to know your work isn't in vain. May God bless you."

Truman Backs Bretton Treaty

WASHINGTON, June 5 (INS)—President Truman today asked Congress to give the Bretton Woods monetary proposals "full bi-partisan support" as the House opened a three-day debate on the 44-nation pacts.

"I have already made clear my conviction prompt enactment of the Bretton Woods legislation is of paramount importance to establishment of a sound economic foundation for lasting peace," Mr. Truman wrote Rep. Spence (D.) of Kentucky, House banking committee chairman.

Spence read the President's letter to the House.

$900 Toss

RICHMOND, Cal., June 5 (AP)—The parents of 18-months-old Kenneth Harnois may be forgiven if they think his latest playful trick wasn't cute.

Mrs. Julie Harnois, 29, asked police to help look for a purse containing $900 in cash and the family's five ration books. She said Kenneth had thrown it from the car window on a busy street.

Adm. Mitscher Bombed Off 2 Flagships by Jap Suiciders

By JOHN A. REICHMANN

WASHINGTON, June 5 (INS)—V. Adm. Marc A. Mitscher disclosed today he was bombed off two flag ships by Jap suicide planes during battles near Okinawa.

The commander of Carrier Force 57 told reporters that after an enemy suicide plane crashed on his first flagship he made his headquarters on another which later was bombed in the same manner, forcing him to leave that warship.

Despite his brush with death, Mitscher does not consider the suicide planes a "serious" threat. He revealed no combat ship in his command had been sunk by suicide planes and announced 1660 suicide fliers had ben shot down by his force off Okinawa.

Only one plane out of 100 gets through to make a direct hit, he declared.

Mitscher urgently asked for men and materials in the Pacific war and minimized reports of disagreement between the Army and the Navy in the Okinawa operation.

"There have been some remarks I have seen in the papers, that the Navy has had to stand off shore too long," he said. "Airfields don't spring up overnight."

He displayed a button from the uniform of a Jap suicide pilot who crashed on the first of his ships and said: "He's dead."

On another ship he said he had lost most of his uniforms. In one attack, he added, four planes got through, two of which were shot down. One went into the water and one struck.

He predicted that the Navy would "practically eliminate the Jap suicide operations although it will require some redesign of equipment."

Mitscher said that he got a general impression after being in the west for more than three years from hearing of differences at home and the trends of general opinion that the Pacific is considered "still a second front war."

"But now that the number one front has been finished I feel we should start pushing to clean up our mess out there as speedily as possible," he said.

"Knowing the Jap, I feel there will be no surrendering for a long time and only when he thinks he is thoroughly whipped.

"Given the men and material we can do it but we need plenty and there can be no mistake about that.

"When the men who have been in Europe get there they're going to find it's entirely different from the other war."

No Marine Corps Demobilization

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, Marine Corps commandant, said today the Corps could not demobilize any of its strength now because it would cause "an appreciable decrease in combat efficiency."

U. S. Children Toy With Jap Air Bombs

SPOKANE, Wash., June 5 (AP)—Two bombs dropped from Jap balloons which have made "attacks" on western United States were playthings of children for several days recently, the Chronicle said today.

The paper said the bombs were found in a timbered area by woodsmen. One was an incendiary, the other a fragmentation bomb.

The find was not reported for 10 days. Meanwhile the woodsmen "fooled" with the bombs and later, children removed the arming device and detonator from the fragmentation missile and neither exploded.

The article said airplanes intercepted some balloons and some were shot down. One balloon was spotted 40,000 feet up and an interceptor plane wasn't sent up.

The newspaper listed these other incidents:

A sheriff disposed of one with a tracer bullet from a rifle. When the tracer hit, the hydrogen-filled bag exploded, sending a flame high into the air.

An alert farmer "captured" one balloon. When it lodged against a barbed wire fence, partly sundturing it. He tied it to the fence for the FBI.

One balloon fell on a power line, disrupting power service.

The newspaper said some bombs were found near populated areas.

Wool Clothing Prices Slashed

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—OPA today worked on the last of a series of price-cutting regulations designed to push clothing costs back two years.

A regulation aimed at clothing wholesalers will be issued soon, Price Administrator Chester Bowles promised, after announcing a new minimum average price, imposed on woolen and worsted mills.

The latter will cut costs of wool woven fabrics 7 per cent and wool knit fabrics 4 per cent, Bowles predicted. It is intended to pave the way for lower priced suits, coats, dresses and other civilian garments made of wool.

Bus Strikers Ordered To Special WLB Hearing

Defiant Salem bus drivers, whose wildcat walkout extended into its fourth day today, were ordered to attend a special War Labor Board session this afternoon to show cause why their unauthorized strike should not be ended immediately.

Ordered by Regional WLB Chairman Saul Wallen to attend the hearing in his office were officials of the Salem local of the Amalgamated Ass'n. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Operators; John F. O'Brien, International representative, and officials of the Eastern Mass. Street Railway Co.

In the event this session failed to end the walkout, it was expected the matter would be referred to the National WLB in Washington and WLB sanctions imposed on the striking drivers.

Such sanctions could include cancellation of draft deferments and loss of personal gasoline rations for the 125 bus drivers who have defied WLB warnings and the pleas of their own union local officials to end the walkout.

Reference of the matter to the national WLB also presented the possibility the Army would be called in to operate the buses which normally carry at least 50,000 war workers and commuters daily.

Meanwhile officials of the various locals met at the Hotel Manger today to discuss procedure on the referendum tomorrow in which the union will accept or reject compromise proposals reached at a State House parley last Friday night. Striking Salem drivers are barred from voting in the referendum.

The railway has been ordered by the labor board to cease all negotiations with the union. The action of the Salem division in remaining out has raised doubt as to whether the other 10 locals of the unon will be permitted to vote tomorrow on a compromise agreement reached between company and union representatives.

The compromise was reached at a State House conference when threat of a general strike Saturday on all lines of the railway was deferred pending ratification of the agreement by the union locals in balloting tomorrow.

New City Officials Take Oath of Office Before Mayor Kerrigan and Assistant City Clerk Hynes

Two Are Sworn in To Key City Posts

Patrick H. O'Connor of Dorchester, sworn into office today as superintendent of public buildings, was ordered by Mayor Kerrigan to launch an immediate cleanup program of municipal and historic buildings under his supervision.

"I want you to put these buildings in first-class condition immediately and keep them that way so that visitors and Boston citizens can be proud of them," Kerrigan said.

The mayor named City Hall as the first structure to be cleaned by the new superintendent.

O'Connor and William W. Drummey, named chairman of the Boston Transit Commission, were administered oaths by Asst. City Clerk John B. Hayes in Kerrigan's office.

Appointed by Mayor Kerrigan in a pre-election campaign shakeup, Drummey succeeds Joseph P. Dever to the $7500 a year transit position, and O'Connor, brother of Supreme Court Clerk Charles S. O'Connor, takes over the $5500-a-year job of Leo Power as head of the public buildings department.

Both Dever and Power were ousted by Mayor Kerrigan for alleged "failure to co-operate with the executive branch of the municipal government and unwillingness to adhere to the policies of the administration."

Waiting to be filled is the $7500 post of city collector, now vacant through dismissal of Collector Merritt Thompson by the mayor.

Neither Dever nor Thompson was expected to challenge their removal from office.

"No useful purpose would be served by challenging in a legal proceeding this removal," Dever stated in a letter to the mayor. "For the purpose of the record, however, I deny the validity of the reasons advanced."

Parsons Award Goes to Lurie

For outstanding achievement in treatment and prevention of crime, Reuben L. Lurie, former State parole board chairman, has been named the 1945 recipient of the Herbert C. Parsons Memorial Award.

The honor was conferred on Lurie, who resigned last December after four years of service on the parole board, at the sixth annual dinner of the United Prison Ass'n of Massachusetts last night at Hotel Vendome.

The award is made annually in memory of Herbert C. Parsons, pioneer in Massachusetts prison and parole reform and honorary president of the United Prison Ass'n at the time of his death in 1940.

Put Old Age Bill Change to Voters

The House today by rollcall vote, 125 to 79, enacted a bill providing for an initiative petition on proposals for extensive changes in the state old age assistance law.

Rep. Adolph Johnson of Brockton opposed the proposal, declaring it would increase cost of old age assistance "three or four times.'

The proposed changes which would go before the voters at the next election would raise minimum old age assistance payments from $40 to $48 a month for individuals and increase from $65 to $96 monthly allotments for aged couples.

Judge Urges Drunks Be Sent to Camps

Drunkards should be sent to camps where temperance would prevail instead of to jails, Municipal Judge Zottoli declared today in urging a legislative committee to accept the recommendations of a research commission appointed to study the problem of drunkenness.

"These men should not be considered criminals and the state should make some provision to attempt their rehabilitation" Judge Zottoli declared.

"You can spank the pants off these fellows but that won't stop them from drinking. You've got to get them before they get that far.

"Let us not wait until the man becomes a human pickle, because then he can't become unpickled."

He said the cost of special facilities for alcoholics could be financed by imposing a $2 drinkers' tax.

"Every person who desires to drink must contribute to the upkeep of facilities for drunkards," Zottoli said. "If a person goes fishing in a city or town pond he has to pay for the maintenance of the pool by getting a license, doesn't he?"

The commission also recommended that labels be placed on liquor bottles cautioning users to "imbibe moderately and not on successive days."

The proposed labels would also warn that if "this beverage is indulged in consistently and immoderately, it may cause intoxication, later neuralgia and paralysis and serious mental derangement such as delirium tremens and other surable and incurable mentaldiseases as well as kidney and liver damage."

Licenses would be issued only to persons providing affidavits that they have not been guilty of drunkennes within three months of their aplication. None would be granted to minors, spendthrifts or public aid recipients.

The law would forbid any person "by excessive drinking to expose himself or hi sdependants to want or indigent circumstances."

Aldred Trust Appeal is Heard

Unless the decision of the lower court is reversed, defendants in the Aldred Investment Trust will have to go through life with an "unholy, righteous stigma upon their characters," argued former Federal Judge Hugh D. McLellan before U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today.

Defendants are Gordon B. Hanlon, president of the trust, which controlled Suffolk Downs track; Robert P. Loring, Elton N. Hanlon, W. Edward Higbee, John L. Arnold, Malcolm M. Bowen and Ezra D. Hart, as individuals.

Judge Sweeney, who presided at the trial in the lower court, found Gordon B. Hanlon and the other officers guilty of gross abuse of trust in investing $1,195,000 of the trust's money in the race track.

N. E. Sub Crew Sink Carrier in 15 Min.

By MURLIN SPENCER

PEARL HARBOR, June 5 (AP)—It was 4:35 p. m. when Com. L. D. McGregor and the men of the submarine "X" (its name cannot be made known) with many New Englanders in its crew, opened fire on the big, new Jap carrier and in 15 minutes they sent her to the bottom of the Pacific.

That brief, courageous action broke the hearts of the Imperial Jap navy because when McGregor, the daring, sandy-haired submariner from Annapolis, Md., sent the heavily loaded warship down he knocked a vital piece out of the enemy's rapidly weakening naval machine.

McGregor told the story this way:

"Commenced firing (torpedoes).

"First torpedo hit causing the target to stop and to commence burning aft. The target opened fire, just prior to being hit, with all guns on the starboard side.

"Carrier continues to fire all starboard guns, its escorting destroyers are milling about dropping depth charges indiscriminately.

"Reload for another shot at target.

"Carrier still burning."

"Torpedo hit carrier. The sharp crash of the torpedo explosion was followed instantly by thundering explosions, apparently from magazine and gasoline storage. Huge clouds of smoke, flames and debris burst into the air completely enveloping the carrier. When executive officer looked several seconds later he still could not see the ship due to the smoke."

And nine minutes later when McGregor swept the seas with his periscope he could see only the escorting destroyers. The carrier, her decks loaded with airplanes, and carrying hundreds of men of the Japanese Navy, had gone to the bottom.

The submarine, relatively new, had already sunk thousands of tons of Jap shipping.

New England officers and crew of the submarine "X" on her great war patrol included:

Lt. Gerald L. Loft, Eliot, Me.; Lt. (j.g.) Dugald C. Burns, Wellesley, Mass.; Mervin E. Beck, New London, Ct.; Joseph A. Campbell, Goodyear, Ct.; John B. Gallagher, and Francis X. tional News Service reported that she was much seen in the company of Carlyle Blackwell, motion picture star and lately a Broadway producer, before she became Mrs. Langford.)

Mrs. Langford said Diaz, a Texan of Spanish ancestry, had been a protege of hers, but she said she could give no reason why anyone would be interested in him now.

Diaz enjoyed his greatest operatic success during the late '20's and early '30's. He was a favorite among the society set and gave recitals in Long Island and Newport summer colonies.

Carlyle Blackwell, back in 1937, was reported engaged to the present Mrs. Langford. As Mrs. Grimes, Park ave. art patroness, she and Blackwell were often seen at night clubs. Blackwell had been married and divorced thrice. His wives were Ruth Hartman, actress; Leah Barnato, heiress to the African diamond king Barney Barnato, and Avonne Taylor, Follies actress and ex-wife of the asbestos heir and perennial bridegroom, Tommy Manville.

Mrs. Grimes-Langford achieved the goal of all art connoisseurs in 1935 when she picked up three musty old canvasses at an art sale to discover later her suspicions were correct and they were long-lost works of the immortal Titian.

Red, U. S. Showdown Seen Up to Truman

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5 (AP)—Secretary of State Stettinius is looking to President Truman for a decision on whether the United States should force a showdown with Russia on the right of free discussion in a World Security Council.

Stettinius is caught in a sharp difference of American opinion here.

The outcome depends on what happens overnight in Moscow. Premier Stalin has been asked to reconsider his government's recent statement to the Big Five at the United Nations Conference that any big power in the council should be able to veto discussion of any problem.

It is the conflict between this and an American-sponsored statement accepted by Britain, France and China which has deadlocked the conference on the whole veto issue, despite rapid progress on other questions, including approval of much peace-enforcement machinery.

A hot debate has been raging over what to do if Russia reaffirms its stand.

Virtually all United States delegates except Stettinius are reported urging that the delegation make a strong statement of its position and carry the fight to the conference floor, if necessary. In such an instance there is every prospect that the Russian view would be voted down—for many small nations are becoming quite short-tempered about the entire veto situation.

State Department advisers, however, are advocating that the delegation move cautiously, in order to avoid arousing new Russian fears and antagonisms, and avoid blowing up the issue unduly.

Mill Fire Tip Wins Award

An alert citizen who not only hopped to a phone with first news of a Woonsocket mill fire that developed into a $500,000 affair, but snapped quick pictures and sent them in immediately, won top award of $10 in the weekly news tips contest conducted by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, with the prize pool recently doubled to $50.

Second prizes of $5 went to a Beverly man who flashed first word to this office that Salem employes of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Rwy. had struck, and to a woman for a tip on a 14-year-old boy bringing a boat into Harwichport with its skipper dead. Then there were two $3 prizes. One went to an alert tipster who phoned about two little girls found dead by gas in Cambridge; another for a tip on a Cambridge fire in which one person died.

In addition, there were five prizes of $2 each for the week and 14 awards of $1 each.

To cash in on a share of these awards weekly, alert readers need only to call Liberty 4000 and ask for the Tip Editor. You're in the money if your tip is good—and it's first.

1250 Hospitalized Vets See Show at Shubert

Happy as kids on a picnic, 1250 hospitalized veterans from Camp Edwards today attended a special matinee performance of "Good Night, Ladies" in Shubert Theater, under the auspices of the Citizens Committee of the Army and Navy.

Laughing and shouting, the servicemen, only recently returned from European battlefields, saw the stream-lined version of the old favorite "Ladies Night in a Turkish Bath," starring Skeets Gallagher and Stanley Bell with Sunny O'Dea, Gloria Humphreys, Marlo Dwyer and Jan Sterling.

Arriving at South Station by special train the veterans leaped to the platform almost before the long train stopped and began forming for the march up Summer st. to the Shubert. About 50 men, unable to march, were transported in special buses.

Every expense involved in bringing the wounded heroes to this special performance was defrayed by the Daily Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Hospitalized Veterans Fund.

PFC Henry Skofield of Bath, Me., formerly of Auburndale, summed up the men's reactions with the remark:

"Boy, what a clambake. We'll never forget the Record-American for thinking of it."

The men were in charge of Maj. William M. Duncanson of Clinton, commanding officer of the patients' detachment at Edwards, and Capt. Jason Berger, special services officer. The trip was arranged by the Citizens' Committee, with Michael Kavanaugh, Shubert theater manager, and Rube Bernstein, manager of "Good Night, Ladies."

Stage stars who joined with the "Good Night, Ladies" cast to give additional fun for the boys included Myron MacCormick and Martha Scott, stars of "Soldier's Wife," playing at the Wilbur.

Berlin" was created, to be administered by an inter-Allied governing authority with representatives of each of the four powers.

None of the zones was further defined in the statement.

"The governments of the four powers hereby announce," one of the series of four statements on the occupation said, "that it is their intention to consult with the governments of other United Nations in connection with the exercise of this (occupation) authority."

At another point it was specified:

"United Nations organizatoins will, if admitted by the control council to operate in Germany, be subordinate to the Allied control machinery and answerable to it."

The statements were released through the State Department here as Gen. Eisenhower left his Frankfurt-on-Main headquarters for the four-power meeting of Allied occupation commanders in Berlin.

A SHAEF announcement said Eisenhower went to the German capital as "commander of the forces of occupation."

In connection with the control of Berlin, the State Department announcement said:

"The administration of the 'greater Berlin' area will be directed by an inter-Allied governing authority, which will operate under the general direction of the control council, and will consist of four commandants, each of whom will serve in rotation as chief commandant. They will be assisted by a technical staff which will supervise and control the activities of the local German organs."

Details of the unconditional surrender were announced simultaneously.

In addition to trimming Germany down to preanschluss size, she is disarmed, her ships and communications made forfeit to Allied control, her planes grounded, and her war factories placed at Allied disposal.

Cohesion of the four-power control council in matters affecting Germany as a whole was provided for as follows:

"In the period when Germany is carrying out the basic requirements of unconditional surrender, supreme authority in Germany will be exercised, on instructions from their governments, by the Soviet, British, United States and French commanders-in-chief, each in his own zone of occupation, and also jointly, in matters affecting Germany as a whole.

"The four commanders-in-chief will together constitute the control council. Each commander-in-chief will be assisted by a political adviser.

"The control council, whose decisions shall be unanimous, will ensure appropriate uniformity of action by the commanders-in-chief in their respective zones of occupation and will reach agreed decisions on the chief questions affecting Germany as a whole."

The control council will have a permanent co-ordinating committee and a control staff. The staff will have 13 divisions covering affairs falling into the following categories:

Military, naval, air, transport, political, economic, finance, reparation, deliveries and restitution, internal affairs and communications, legal, prisoners of war and displaced persons, manpower.

Each division will be headed by a representative designated by each of the four powers, and the staff may include civilians and also in special cases nationals of other united nations appointed in a personal capacity.

Liaison with other United Nations governments will be established through military missions to the control council.

R. I. Flier Unhurt In 382 Missions

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 5 (AP)—Cpl. Lucien Leduc of Pawtucket, R. I., completed 382 missions in the India-Burma theater as a C-47 air-dropper without once being forced down or suffering a crash landing. He has a DFC with two Clusters and an Air Medal with four Clusters.

"Our job was to keep the advancing ground forces supplied with ammunition, food and medicine," he explained at AAF Redistribution Station No. 1.

"We got the stuff through all right," he asserted. "Occasionally we dropped medicine and supplies and once we dropped live pigs to a Chinese outfit on one of their festival days." (He is the son of Joseph Leduc of 262 High st., Pawtucket.)

He said that when making drops the plane always was subject to Jap small-arms ground fire, but the worst that ever happened was a few harmless slugs in the tail assembly.

British Drive Nearer to Thailand

CALCUTTA, June 5 (AP)—Tank-supported British 14th Army troops have driven Jap forces out of bunker positions 16 and a half miles east of Toungoo and pushed them back another half-mile through an extensive minefield.

This represented a gain of nearly five miles toward the Thailand border since yesterday.

3500 Nurses in Europe Due to Return Here

PARIS, June 5 (AP)—Approximately 3500 of the 17,800 nurses in the European Theater of Operations will return to the United States for duty in Army hospitals, the chief surgeon's office at Allied headquarters said today.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Chinese Close in on Base

CHUNGKING, June 5 (AP)—The Chinese high command said today Chinese forces were executing an enveloping movement against Japanese forces at Liuchow, former site of a 14th Air Force Base, and Ishan, 43 miles to the west.

Severe fighting was reported in the suburbs of Szelo on the highway to French Indo-China, 70 miles southwest of Liuchow.

The high command announced recapture of Kweihsien, important port on the West river in southwestern Kwangsi province.

From Kweihsien, the high command said, one column was moving down the West river while a second stabbed northward toward Muson, about 55 miles southsoutheast of Liuchow.

In the Fukien, the high command said, Japanese remnants are being pursued northeast of Foochow.

A semi-official Chinese dispatch said today that Chinese forces had occupied Siapu, 75 miles northeast of Foochow.

Sub Still Open To Bond Buyers

There are still three days left for bond buyers in Greater Boston to enjoy the rare privilege of boarding and inspecting the captured Nazi submarine U-505, now tied up at Central Wharf, it was announced today.

Returns for the first two days of June show a jump of $8,408,000 in Greater Boston purchases of other than E bonds, bringing the total sales to $45,205,000 or 68 per cent of the quota for the district. Total for the State is $59,700,000 or 60.9 per cent of the quota.

Sales of series E bonds lag behind other types, with the total for all sales reaching $116,100,000 in the drive for $238,000,000 in the State. The War Finance Committee stressed that for the balance of the drive through June 30 sales of E bonds must take a spurt if the "Mighty Seventh War Loan" is to go over the top.

Payment of millions of dollars in the State this week through savings bank "vacation clubs" is expected to spur bond purchases. The average "club" payment will be $59—more than enough to buy three $25 bonds.

A new touring attraction, the Infantry Concert Group of symphonic musicians held its premiere in Arlington last night and will appear tonight in Belmont.

64,000 Freed PWs Head Home

PARIS, June 5 (AP)—The provost marshal's office of the European theater announced today virtually all American prisoners of war, including those in Russian-occupied areas, have been recovered and that more than two-thirds have departed for the United States.

The announcement said 89,776 recovered American prisoners were either en route home or awaiting transportation.

Roughly, 64,000 have been shipped home, it was said, and all except 3000 to 4000 of the remainder have been processed for shipment.

"We feel confident all of them will be en route home before the end of the month," it was stated by Lt. Col. W. P. Schweitzer, chief of the recovered Allied military personnel division.

Droopy Plants Not Yet Lost

By FOSTER H. WEISS

(Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the 8 stop Record-American and Sunday Advertiser Victory Garden on Boston Common.)

With cool weather still handicapping V-gardeners, many have been discouraged by the slow start of their tomato plants, which have turned yellow and look bad; but they will start up again as soon as warm weather returns. When they do show signs of growing, side dress with a light application of fertilizer and watch the results.

Root crops such as beets and carrots are now making enough growth so that they must be at least partially thinned if the stand is heavy. In small gardens this job can be done gradually which will help the crop along. Use care in thinning and always remove the poorest plants. Use care in pulling the plants so that you will not loosen the plants that are left. There is no reason why plants should be hurt much by thinning if the job is done carefully.

Replant beans and other tender crops if they did not come up. Some gardeners have been waiting for about two weeks for their tender crops planted from seed to come up. These crops should normally break through the ground in from 6 to 7 days depending on temperature. Ten days is usually enough even during cool weather. If such crops as beans, cucumbers and squash have failed to come up, dig up a few seeds and see if they have started to sprout or if they have rotted due to wet weather.

If they have spoiled it is not too late to replant, and would indicate that under your soil conditions and locations you planted a little too early.

'Oh, Brother!' Rather Tiring

By PEGGY DOYLE

Given a certain unmistakable intonation, "Oh, Brother!" the title of Jacques Deval's new comedy, might double as a two-word critique of the Plymouth's current tenant.

For his latest undistinguished offering, the French playwright poses the unpretty problem of a sister falling in love with her own brother. Of course, he actually isn't her brother but for the greater part of three acts she fondly believes him to be.

Arleen Whelan, that Hollywood package of anatomical dynamite, plays at being the sister with all the restraint of a bobby-soxer in the presence of Frank Sinatra. Her ardent embraces and her "brother's" high-minded reluctance to enjoy them are used for comedy effect repeatedly.

Don Gibson plays the uncomfortable youth with as much integrity as the script allows.

Hugh "Woo Woo" Herbert, whose nervous digits play a skilled game of chess, and Susana Garnett, who was stranded when he aided her, have thefted a few bagfuls of baubles from Miss Whelan's manse. Caught in the act by the young man, Susana, with wide-eyed candor, explains it is to get a stake for Herbert to enter a forthcoming top-drawer chess tournament.

Eva Condon's housekeeper is better than the company she's in. Jutta Wolfe and Gloria Stroock, in air-conditioned swim-suits, are merely decorative.

Lizabeth Scott is the newest of aspiring young actresses to catch the eye of movie moguls in Hollywood. She is tall and has all those visible assets so necessary for the films . . . but her voice, described as slightly husky, is also a point in her favor.

SUICIDE?

By BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

IS CONGRESS slowly ending its own life? The poison that is sapping its vitality is delegation.

What is "delegation"? It is, in the matter of our Congress, the continuous abdication of its own constitutional powers and the conferring of those powers on Executive and bureaucratic government officials.

That has become chronic with the Congresses of the United States since 1933.

Delegation of power in certain extraordinary instances on the part of our National Legislature is legitimate.

But Congress is elected by the people to assume certain responsibilities limited by the Constitution.

This is in itself an act of fundamental and non-transferable delegation on the part of the people.

If the makers of the Constitution had desired this act of ultimate delegation to be passed on to executives and bureaucrats it would not have created a Congress with such definitely expressed powers.

It would have put DIRECTLY into the hands of the Executive and his appointees all power of legislation, and thus we should have had a Fascist government from the beginning.

But the founding fathers decreed a democratic Republic, and the people said "yes."

THE LATEST delegation of power on a great scale is contained in the extension of the Hull "Reciprocity Treaties" for three years.

Congress here practically abandons its right to be master of tariff rates.

Arbitrary juggling with tariff rates might destroy our whole economic system.

Congress puts the constitutional power of laying duties in the hands of the President and his advisers.

As passed by the House, this jack-on-a-stick tariff bill actually gives the President the right to cut duties 50 per cent on merchandise entering the country.

This delegated power—in view of the number of delegations of power that have preceded it—records a tendency which is, as we said, SUICIDAL in the matter of constitutional government.

For, be it remembered, delegation of powers by law-making bodies to executive control is the FIRST move always made in the deliberate or conscious transformation of a free government into a dictatorship of Fascist or Communist pattern.

The delegation of power by the Reichstag to Hitler was the FIRST ACT that made Germany a murderous dictatorship.

The delegation of all powers to Lenin and his gang and later to Stalin and his commissars was what had to be done to make Russia the penitentiary it is today.

Mussolini's Italy as an example of "delegation" of power by the Italian parliament to Il Duce needs no comment.

WE SEE the same technique being used in this country today.

Our Congress is partly made up of such short-sighted, unimaginative men that they cannot see that every time they put the administration of vital laws into the hands of individuals (many of them with imported minds) they are bringing us nearer and nearer to the totalitarian state.

Caesar Augustus transformed Rome from a republic to a dictatorship not by abolishing the Senate but by merely having it "vote" him the powers he demanded—or else.

Strong optimism says: "It can't happen here." But IT IS happening here.

The "Reciprocal" Treaty-Making Bill and the enormous power it confers on the President are proof of it.

It is a sign of democratic fatigue, loss of faith in our structural laws and a sinister triumph for those plotters at Washington who seek to achieve by an innocent-looking technique what Germany, Italy and Japan could not accomplish by force of arms.

Continued delegation of powers on the part of Congress is, we repeat again, SUICIDE.

If there is increasing disrespect for Congress on the part of the people it is because Congress is losing its own self-respect.

PASSING BY: Imogene Coca. Whimsical night spot comedienne whose slogan is "The Sly Little Pixie." I would like to see a film in which Joe E. Lewis played the husband and Imogene the wife. Imogene could play a career wife; a stenographer, with Charles Boyer as her boss. Joe could portray the driver of a one-man bus on Lexington ave., Manhattan. One big scene could be where Joe, wild with jealousy of his wife's boss, slams the bus door in Boyer's face. Then there could be a highly dramatic divorce court scene with Jimmy Durante playing Imogene's lawyer. I have always wanted to see a scene in which Durante addressed a jury.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, June 5—Continuing our study of President Truman's proposal to increase Social Security payments, let us consider, among other items, an indiscreet open letter addressed to me last summer.

Westbrook Pegler

Mr. Truman has asked Congress to provide liberal pensions for millions who will be classified as "unemployed" during the conversion period, although the maintenance of the 40-hour week and the overtime and bonus schedules was supposed to provide each individual with a roll of fall-money to see him through the crisis.

In other words, it was agreed that war plant workers should be greatly overpaid and tacitly admitted that they were extravagantly overpaid while the service men were fighting and toiling for service pay.

My letter is a mimeographed handout from the organizing committee of the United Auto Workers of the CIO, Hercules plant, Canton, O., and is signed "Jimmy the Sweeper." The date is July 21, 1944.

The United Auto Workers, incidentally, has about the worst record of all in the matter of strikes in war factories.

Jimmy the Sweeper advised me in his open letter that his pay had been raised from $28 to $64 a week, in other words more than doubled, and that he had received bonuses of $215 for reasons which he did not state.

A sweeper is by no stretch of the imagination to be regarded as a skilled worker or a hero of the production front.

All he does is sweep. If his union is alert it limits the width of his broom as the painters limit the width of a paintbrush, lest he turn out too much work and it likewise keeps a watch lest he kill the job by sweeping too fast.

A sweeper is of the lowest order of skill. "Production," which is to say the amount of trash that he sweeps in a given period, is the only measure of his value as a worker.

At this point we have to give up trying to understand how Jimmy could be worth $64 a week or deserve a bonus of $215 and fall back on the explanation that he was supposed to save a considerable part of this money for his spell of post-war unemployment.

★ ★ ★

NOW, HOWEVER, we discover that the people, including the servicemen, of course, have been hood-winked because, whether he spent the velvet or put it into bonds or the bank, we still may have to pay Jimmy a dole almost equal to the pay that he got when he was paid what he was worth.

There has been a planned and directed effort to deny the very figures which the National Maritime Union was boastfully advertising to merchant sailors two years ago in a campaign for new members.

Mrs. Roosevelt recently attempted to argue that "in the long run, the average Navy man has as much for himself and his family in the course of a year as the merchant seaman."

This line that was adopted by the Maritime Union when its own boasts aroused naval enlisted sailors who sailed aboard the same vessels, sometimes on inferior rations, for painfully inferior pay and under strict discipline.

The fact is that the merchant sailors for a long time got $125 for each port they touched in the war zone on the theory that they were subject to attack even if they were not attacked

If a ship touched at Liverpool, Holyhead, Swansea, Southampton, Gibraltar and Oran and back at Gibraltar on the return voyage the merchant sailors got $125 a port or $875 in port bonuses alone, plus $5 a day for every day at sea a few miles beyond Sandy Hook.

They also got a bonus of 100 per cent of their minimum base pay of $100 a month, plus overtime pay for work after hours, plus cheap insurance.

They drew bonus pay and overtime for months of idling in foreign ports waiting to unload.

There were numerous instances in New York in which merchant sailors coming ashore with thousands of dollars were jack-rolled in dumps.

The disparity between their pay and that of the men who had taken the oath of the armed services finally became so scandalous that the bonus system was revised downward.

Nevertheless, the merchant sailors remain a favored class by comparison with all the armed services and union representatives on one occasion before a Congressional committee, objected to the adoption of a service button because they wanted the merchant sailors to be identified as union men, not as American servicemen.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 5—I don't know any actress in Hollywood who has had as much criticism aimed at her as Marie McDonald, who is so beautiful she has been dubbed "The Body."

Marie swears much of the stuff she is credited with saying never passed her lips and that she was misquoted. However, I have no intention of getting in the middle of a squabble between a fellow scribe and an actress. Marie, I must say, is so pretty she could talk herself out of almost anything.

Marie McDonald

Whether she did talk too much or didn't, she gets the top feminine role in "Getting Gertie's Garter," the old Broadway farce which Eddie Small is doing with Marie and Dennis O'Keefe and our old friend Alan Dwan at the directorial helm. It's her first lead role and she was borrowed from Hunt Stromberg.

★ ★ ★

SALLY EILERS was not only patriotic selling bonds at Santa Anita on Memorial Day, but she looked so chic in her naval aide uniform that Bill Pine and Bill Thomas offered her the siren role in their new picture. (Said Bill Thomas: "That is—if we're still making pictures after placing our next bet!") Anyway, the movie is, "They Made Me a Killer," with Robert Lowery and Barbara Britton. Sally will have to unpack if she remains to accept the offer because she was all ready to join her husband in the East. She and June Clyde sold $85,000 of bonds at the track.

★ ★ ★

MAYBE IT'S TRUE that Author Rose Franken said nobody but Martha Scott could play the lead in her play, "Soldier's Wife," but I doubt it. She sold the rights to her play months ago and Mary McCall is writing the adaptation. The reason I doubt Martha will have the lead is because Laraine Day is practically set. I saw Martha in New York and it is true she was excellent, but it is the sort of thing Laraine Day can do well, too. The heroine, wife of a soldier, puts his letters in a book and, presto, becomes famous overnight as a writer.

★ ★ ★

I CERTAINLY HOPE the success of the "Dillinger" picture at the box office doesn't start a trend of gangster movies. We have outgrown them. W. H. Burnett, I hear, has made an offer of $150,000 to Howard Hughes to buy the rights to "Scarface," supposedly the story of Al Capone, in which George Raft made almost his first movie appearance and which starred Paul Muni. Burnett did the screen play with Ben Hecht. If Burnett gets it he'd like to make it independently. Meanwhile, the King Brothers are so excited over their "Dillinger" success they too have put in a bid for "Scarface."

★ ★ ★

AN INTERESTING letter came from Marlene Dietrich who writes: "Louella, please deny for me that I ever said I was through with Hollywood. I'm coming home as soon as I can leave these boys. Right now there is so little entertainment and they are so badly in need of it. I just can't come home until coaditions are different." Marlene goes on to say she has three pictures waiting for her. Her friend, Jean Gabin, was in the French Armored Division and was transferred to the tank corps a few days before Germany fell.

★ ★ ★

NO PICTURE in Hollywood was ever made with more setbacks, more criticism and more trouble than 20th Century's life of Eddie Rickenbacker. So it's very good news to hear that at the preview of "Captain Eddie," as the picture is being titled, there was a perfect bombardment of favorable postcards. Winfield Sheehan, pioneer film producer, who was so terribly ill, was able to go to the preview of his picture and to hear the applause and praise heaped on it. He leaves for New York in July on business and to see "Captain Eddie" shown in the big town.

WASHINGTON, June 5—Educational note, or why don't you give up school and just listen to me:

Guess who they bar from the lobby of the House of Representatives?

Lobbyists!

★ ★ ★

YES, SIR, lobbyists are strictly forbidden by act of Congress to enter the Congressional lobby. They've got to do their lobbying outside the lobby!

By the way, the big lobbyists no longer call themselves lobbyists. They call themselves "legislative engineers!"

★ ★ ★

I DO NOT believe in trying to gild the lily, so when one like this comes along I just paste it in and send it along. This, my dear little students of government, is a contribution from none other than Rep. Paul W. Shafer of Michigan:

"THE OPA has become well-known for its ridiculous orders. Now comes another honey. It provides that all retailers of feather and down pillows must send one pillow of each grade which they have in stock on June 27 to the OPA's durable goods branch here.

"While the OPA states that this is necessary in order that they may determine the proper price to be charged for each pillow as of June 27, I am wondering how such a deluge of pillows on Washington is to be handled—these being more than 22,000 retail dealers in America.

"Will we have to build another Pentagon building in which to store these pillows?

"Posibly this procedure will make possible the paving of our Washington streets with pillows to assure soft spots on which some of these bureaucrats can land when the nation finally gets fed up and demands that they be thrown out!"

I HAVE SPOKEN somewhat strongly in the past about the anonymous writers of poison-pen letters. These vermin, feeling safe in their crawling anonymity, let go without restraint—tossing in everything nasty they can think of.

Maybe some of it—or possibly much of it—is deserved. My complaint is merely that they haven't the courage to come out openly with their charges. After all, their victims enjoy no such cover.

At last, however, I received a letter from a poison writer who seemed to have the courage of his conviction. He went to town on me, boldly inscribing his name and address.

It was such a pleasant change from the methods of the anonymous lice that I wrote an appreciative letter in reply.

My letter has just come back. It is marked:

"Not known at this address."

MARSHALL ADAMS, who, despite her name, is a very hot-looking number (female) did a very constructive thing the other day. She interviewed me on the radio.

Miss Adams, whom I will adore to my dying day, provided I die tonight, put me completely at my ease by cooing—in effect:

"Now go ahead and say something funny!"

Naturally, there is nothing in the world more calculated to put a radio tyro at his ease, so I relaxed completely. I gulped and harumphed—and everything went blank.

Miss Adams kept prodding me, in a nice, ladylike way, but about the only anecdote I could bring to mind was the time Clare Luce received a call to have exterminators come down and kill the termites in the White House swimming pool.

Mrs. Luce, who has never personally knocked off a termite in her life, was somewhat bewildered until she received a second call informing her the message had been intended for Miss Catherin L. Loose, secretary to Secretary of Agriculture Wickard!

ALTHOUGH nearly every Senator I have talked to privately would like that $2500 extra expense account, most of them are so afraid of censure they have ducked from under. The Senate turned the thing down, but the House—where skins do not seem quite so thin—has picked it up.

The Senators now face the prospect of having to watch the Representatives pocket that extra 25 C's, while they get nothing. The money is there, waiting for the Senators to take it, but they're afraid to stretch forth their hands, via an open vote.

Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico confided he had been discussing it with one of his colleagues who said the Senate's position reminded him of an old Southern rhyme:

"White boy, black boy, playing seven up,
"Black boy wins the money—
"Afraid to puck it up!"

★ ★ ★

SECRETARY LESLIE BIFFLE of the Senate was invited by a Senator to go fishing this coming weekend. Mr. Biffle made what he considered adequate preparations, but now he is completely bewildered—because the Senator's secretary just called and said:

"The senator says to be sure and bring a tuxedo!"

Boston After Dark

PAUL WHITEMAN will be here June 17 . . . The first great name jazz maestro, Paul has credited George Gershwin's famous "Rhapsody in Blue" as the vehicle which thrust him into prominence as a "serious" musician . . . When Mr. Whiteman braved a Carnegie Hall audience to play "The Rhapsody" in symphonic jazz, he startled the long-hairs of music and thrilled his own fans . . . The effect was historic . . . Maestro Whiteman will come to Boston chiefly to launch a Boston radio station as the local unit in a national chain . . . (The station which is now the Boston outlet for that network surrenders its franchise and "goes independent.")

★ ★ ★

PAUL'S HEART, as always, will be in his work of the moment . . . But it is a safe wager that the famous fiddler-leader will check on Boston arrangements for the fitting celebration of George Gershwin Jubilee Week, a memorial week planned for June 29 to July 5, in which most of the musicians in America will be interested . . . Paul is "honorary" chairman of a noteworthy committee of entertainers and musicians.

★ ★ ★

We QUOTE the word "honorary" because Paul seems to be doing a great deal of active work . . . In fact, he is making contact with Boston musicians by personal letter, the better to promote the committee's objective of playing a great deal of Gershwin music throughout the late composer's jubilee week . . . Wilson Lewis, maestro of the Rhumba Casino's band, and Fuzzy Lee, Wilson's librarian and violinist, got his letter today, and the first rehearsal call on Gershwin melodies was sounded at once . . .

★ ★ ★

GUEST NIGHT at The Mayfair tonight will give the Mayfair regulars, who seldom inhabit any other ringside than that of the intimate super-room on Broadway, a chance to hear Marjorie Gainsworth sing without moving their familiar tables to attend the nearby Latin Quarter . . . Marjorie was an overnight hit last season when playing The Mayfair . . . She's the featured diva now at the Quarter . . . The town is well-stocked with celebrities, including Bert Lytell, president of Equity, Richard (Skeets) Gallagher, Hugh Herbert and Arleen Whelan . . . Miss Whelan has just been acclaimed by "The International Artists' Committee"—and guess who they are! (we can't)—as "the most perfect beauty of all time" . . . Jimmy Fidler wisecracks today that he supposes Venus de Milo lost the award by an arm . . . Arleen's press agent should be able to do something about that . . . If Miss Whelan will pose in the armless posture of Venus, a comparison of pictures of both beauties might be enlightening . . .

★ ★ ★

WHETHER the stunt might be too "natural" for Miss Whelan's dignity, is another issue . . . Of course, the photographer's art always takes in consideration the necessity to present art in at least a bra and a sarong.

Broadway

NEW YORK, June 5—Broadway has its tried and tested products and it has built a tremendous business, a business grossing millions of dollars every year, upon them. That these products happen to be human beings (what am I saying!), is just part of the fabulous character of the Boulevard of Broken Dreams.

It is so strange that these characters, personalities, egos, or whatever you wish to call them, should have trade-marks by which you can tell the original product? Well, whatever you might think, they do have them — just as surely as though they stamped "Reg. U. S. Pat. Off."

Bea Lillie

For instance, if you see a fellow made up like a comic opera "ham" in a fur-collared bonny and a very arty fedora it's a safe bet that you're looking at Billy Gaxton . . . A funny little guy, clutching an umbrella as though his life depended on it—even though the sun is shining, is bound to be Victor Moore . . . The zaniest hat you ever saw will, without doubt, have June Knight under it! . . . And who else could wear a tomboy haircut like thata except Bea Lillie . . . When the "puss" resembles something out of a sad Disney cartoon, you're looking at Bert Lahr . . . If her glowing health and vitality make you think of a Rubens painting instead of a Reubens' sandwich, it's a safe bet that she's Irma Baronova! . . . Has it a monocle clamped in its eye? Than that at which you are looking is Charles Coburn . . . And Milton Berle finds it easier to act like a comedian offstage than wear an identifying neon sign on his back with his name on it!

AMONG THE other headliner's hallmarks are Tallulah Bankhead's husky voice . . . Harry Richman's top-hat, cane and suntan . . . Hildegarde's nose-wrinkling grimaces and her tireless manager, Anna Sosenko . . . Benny Goodman's glasses and shy grin . . . Woody Herman's loud sport jackets . . . Paul Whiteman's crinkly face, waxed mustache, and balding dome . . . Oscar Hemerstein's John L. Lewis eyebrows . . . James Montgomery Flagg's pale pink evening shirts . . . Georgie Nelson's sweeping overtures . . . Frank Fay's hang-dog look without "Harvey" of course! The "Gravel Gertie" quality of Nancy Walker . . . Sigmund Romberg's habit of scribbling down music on anything that's handy at the moment . . . Harry James' non-existent mustache—and Betty Grable . . . The pouter pigeon strut of Lawrence Tibbett.

TWO OUTSTANDING good buys on the vegetable market today are tomatoes and summer squash. Tomatoes, of course, are the salad vegetable supreme and equally good when cooked. But summer squash too can be served in several ways, not only diced or sliced until tender and served with salt, pepper and melted butter or margarine but baked in the oven with seasonings added, or sliced, dipped in egg and crumbs and fried. Steamed or baked in the shell scraped from the shell and mashed, served with seasonings, is another tasty method of preparing summer squash.

SQUASH PUDDING

2 lbs. summer squash
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 egg, beaten
½ cup medium white sauce
2 tbsp. brown sugar
½ cup buttered crumbs

Steam the squash and mash. Add butter, egg, white sauce and brown sugar; season to taste. Place in a greased casserole top with buttered crumbs. Sprinkle with paprika and a dash of nutmeg. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until browned. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SUMMER SQUASH EN CASSEROLE

2 lbs. crooked neck squash
1 tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. butter or margarine

Wash and cut squash in ¼ inch thick slices. Lay slices in layers in greased or oiled 2-quart casserole, sprinkling each layer with some of the salt and pepper and dotting with some of the butter until all are used. Cover; bake in a moderately hot oven of 400 deg. F. for 1 hour, or until squash is tender. Makes 4 servings.

BAKED OR BROILED TOMATOES

6 medium tomatoes
1½ tsp. prepared mustard
2 tbsp. minced onion
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
Sugar
Salt

Remove stem end and cut each tomato in half crosswise. Spread cut side of each half with some of the prepared mustard. Top each with ½ tsp. minced onion, ¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce, and sprinkle each half with a little sugar and salt. Arrange in baking pan and bake in a moderately hot oven of 375 deg. F. for 30 minutes, or broil 15 minutes under a very low broiler heat. Makes 6 servings.

TOMATO PINWHEEL LUNCHEON SALAD

2 cucumbers
6 medium-sized tomatoes
Chives; 1 lb. cottage cheese

Peel and score cucumbers lengthwise with the tines of a fork. Cut into thin slices. Peel the tomatoes. Chill. Makes 6 cuts lengthwise through the tomato almost to the center. Do not sever the sections. Insert a cucumber slice in each cut. Arrange on individual beds of lettuce or other greens. On each plate serve 2 mounds of cottage cheese seasoned with salt, pepper and some grated onion. Garnish with deviled egg halves. Serve mayonnaise on the side. Makes 6 servings.

STEWED TOMATOES

Peel and quarter ripe tomatoes. Put into saucepan with a slice or two of onion and 6 or 8 whole cloves. Add seasonings as desired, a bit of bay leaf, celery salt and pepper and boil 20 or 30 min. Tomatoes are usually juicy enough to require no additional water. Cover and simmer from 5 to 10 minutes or until soft. If very juicy a few bread or toast cubes or crumbs may be added, or the liquid may be thickened with a little cornstarch dissolved in cold water.

SOMETHING extra special is this beach quartette in light and heavier butcher linen-like Brighton fabrics. It was designed by that sports clothes master, Claire McCardell. The sun-and-sand getup features the briefer-than-brief shorts, combined with a narrow bandeau, for active sports.

Needs Perfect Make-up

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

A YOUNG FRIEND rushed into our office the other day virtually breathless . . . but one look at the gleam in her bright eyes and instantly we knew the heart-thrill of a lifetime was now a reality.

"He's here, he's back. I've seen him, it's real," she blurted . . . the buoyance of young love punctuating every word with all the tonal inflection of deep-rooted emotion. Naturally, she meant her boy friend has come home from the wars . . . the reunion was what she had dreamed about these long two-and-a-half-years he had been away . . . even though it was to last only 41 days.

But those 41 days will be half a lifetime . . . spent in building up cherished moment to be recalled and to reinforce her sentiments when he returns to help bring about the final hoisting of the total victory flag forever and a day.

"I want the most glorious, glamorous, heavenly, divine makeup you can suggest," she begged. "I've got to be his dream girl now and the next age of waiting he's away."

But this day it was a different story. This day he was back and she suddenly wanted to be like the haunting vision of a dream girl. This day she was a happy woman . . . free as the wind . . . desirous of a face to accompany her waking-on-air feeling. And, so we suggested a cake makeup for her . . . the one we were using ourself. She liked it . . .

She liked the idea that it stayed on throughout the day without need of retouching . . . for her hours . . . precious ones . . . belong to HIM . . . and when she left her home she wanted her makeup job to be well nigh perfect.

This cake makeup . . . one of the newest . . . contains a specially formulated protective ingredient that softens the skin texture as it glamorizes the complexion with a skin-tone of whatever shade you like . . . since it comes in so many different shades. A moistened sponge whisked across the face of this makeup and transferred to the face . . . creates one of the loveliest complexion illusions we've tried. There is no artificial mask look . . . No streaking or caking . . . no heavy theatricalism . . . just an even expanse of tinted marble-like evenness as creatively lovely as a painting.

For the name of this cake makeup with special ingredients, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PHOTOGENIC loveliness is what every girl yearns for . . . especially when the boy friend returns from the wars for a glorious . . . if only brief . . . reunion. And though love, they say, makes the world go round . . . it also fires a woman's desire suddenly to want beauty . . . the kind that makes her the cynosure of all eyes. Let a new cake makeup, with special ingredient to assure facial silkiness, transform your complexion into an expanse of translucent flawlessness . . . like that of Warner Star Dolores Moran.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Monday—At the beginning of the war, we often heard air power enthusiasts say that now we would see it proved that only air power was needed in the future. For that reason, I think many people gave somewhat less thought to the foot soldier—the infantryman—who in the wars of the past always did the hard fighting and had the least glamor attached to his particular achievements.

It has been proved again in this war that the infantry has to do the final job, and I imagine in the past, just as today, you heard grumbling from the infantry that their job was the toughest and the dullest, and that they got very little recognition.

So, on June 13, we are going to celebrate Infantry Day, and I hope we do it with grateful hearts.

* * *

ONE OF THE PEOPLE who more than any other endeared the average soldier to us was Ernie Pyle. His voice is stilled now, but the columns he wrote will keep before us the human side of this war.

Another man who, through the medium of the cartoon, has passed on to us the humor and the pathos of the infantry is Bill Mauldin, and his book of cartoons, "Up Front," will be published June 13 in honor of Infantry Day.

* * *

WE WILL WANT to keep before our children what this war was really like. It is so easy to forget; and then, for the younger generation, the heroism and the glamor remains, while the dirt, the hardships, the horror of death and the sorrow fade.

That must not happen. Young people must have adventure in their lives and an opportunity for heroism. Perhaps one of the things we will have to do is exercise our ingenuity and imagination to the point of finding peace - time ways in which youth can feel that they are developing the traits which we admire so much in the heroes of our wars.

Hot Weather Dress

By BETTINA BEDWELL

YOU CAN wear a coat in dog days and keep cool in it. That's a miracle that designers have brought to pass by making a coat dress that is about the best kind of dress for torrid temperatures. It has the added advantage that very little need be worn under it, for, being nontransparent, it keeps your undergarment story away from the public eye.

One of these hot-weather coat dresses is sketched today by Miss Dulin. Made of clear jonquil yellow crepe, the dress is as simple as a shift, but very charming with its loose, short sleeves and draped waist and skirt. The waistline is held by a sash.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

There has been an increasing flow of inquiries received by this column concerning non-receipt of mail from servicemen and women now overseas.

Due to this situation and the fact that the military picture has changed rapidly of late, the First Service Command has requested the following question and answer be published, which would be of help to families and gives information concerning what now appears to be proper procedure.

Q—I have not heard from my boy in the Pacific area for four months. I write him each day. What should I do in this case? He is assigned to a Service Company, 307th Infantry, APO 77, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco A. C. Boston.

A—It is suggested that the writer, or anyone in similar circumstances, may wish to write a letter of inquiry addressed to the Commanding Officer of the soldier's unit, using the same APO mailing address as when writing to the serviceman. In this case for example, such a letter would be addressed to the Commanding Officer, Service Company, 307th Infantry, APO 77 c/o Postmaster, San Francisco, Cal.

Q—After serving one year my husband was discharged from the Army and received $200 mustering-out pay. He then managed to get into the Marine Corps and has been stationed here in this country for almost 18 months. Now he expects to get discharged. Will he receive mustering-out pay again? Also is he eligible for G. I. Bill benefits? J. D., Cambridge.

A—Will not receive mustering-out pay when discharged from the Marine Corps. Only persons once Eligible for all benefits under G. I. Bill of Rights is other than dishonorable.

Q—I have a son in the Navy. He enlisted March, 1943. Since that time I have not received any allotment from him only a few dollars which he sends from his own pay. Would like to know if I am entitled to allotment as he used to help support me before entering service? J. M. P., Amesbury.

A—You have the right to file for an allotment from your son. If he was helping to support you I am surprised that he has not filed allotment application long before this. Suggest that you contact local Red Cross Chapter and have them assist in filing necessary papers.

Fun With the Mailbag; Mixing the Qs and As

By AUSTEN LAKE

LET'S PLAY POSTOFFICE. Today is Vox Pop's day, when we riffle through the current mailbag. Let's skip the laudatory letters and choose the gripes—wholesome American gripes! Here's one in the tone of a mild abdominal ache. "Sir—What riles me is to see our returning three and four-star generals taking all the bows and glory for the efforts of our common GI soldiers. These high officers are big only because the ordinary infantry Joes made them so. Why not let our returned simple soldiers parade and take their own bows? . . . Mrs. F. L. R., Dorchester."

Austen Lake

Ans.—Aw! let the gold cuffs and brass bonnets take the curtain calls! They've done a swell job, too. The lowly combat dogface doesn't want any parades, or plaster arches, or showers of waste paper, or sweaty processions! All he wants is a little piece of paper saying, "Honorably discharged," and to rest his stockinged feet on the mantelpiece for a month. His attitude is, "T'ell with the flowers. Gimme a job doing something useful at a living wage." Your long-term doughfoot shuns "heroics" like a kid avoids a playmate with measles. BUT at last reading we had some 40,000 demobilized servicemen who want work but can't find it. There's one kind of parade nobody wants repeated—the Veterans' 1921 March on Washington.

Krauts and a Method

AND HERE'S WHO DOESN'T LIKE my etymology for German soldiers. Sezee, "Sir—I find your repetitious use of 'Kraut' for Germans offensive—SLT, East Boston."

Ans.—"Kraut" is the universal noun used by U. S. combat soldiers for ALL Germans. He never uses any other! They're just Krauts to him! And they're Krauts to me! If you, as remote from battlefield lingo, find the diminutive offensive let me say our combat men found the "Krauts," as personages, doubly so. Which offense is greater, your ear or their spirits?

And now the inevitable dissenter with my notions on "rehabilitating" postwar Germany: "Sir—I am one of many temperate Americans who believe the German people are basically like all other peoples and that they will respond to intelligent logic, or whatever other term you choose for 're-education.'—FCS, Brookline."

Ans.—Okay! But HOW? The choice of Allied policy is limited to a few. Shall we nurse Germany back to world equality by some mysterious system of injecting her with our democratic virus? Shall we divide her into segments like a geographical pie? Shall we chaperon her industries under military commissions? Shall we uproot and relocate her peoples in the frontier places of the world? Shall we import batches of German youth and expose them to our domestic beatitudes? Well WHAT?

Suppose we adopt the first policy—that of social therapy, or "re-education" as advocated by Miss Dorothy Thompson, Thomas Mann and others like yourself. I only ask HOW and WHERE to start the program? Would it be through propaganda lessons in the daily 4th Reich press? And if so will the German people, so saturated by past propaganda to the point of nausea, soak it up—especially alien propaganda?

Or is it better to install our own teachers, as suggested in a current article of Collier's Weekly? Suppose we do that! Will our teachers greet the shining morning faces of their pupils and say, "Now scholars, today's lesson deals with the Jeffersonian principle that all men are created equal." To which the scholars would certainly reply, "Why yes! That's old German ideology! People are born equal, but they don't stay that way, if they can help it."

They Know All the Answers

THEN THE TEACHER WILL SAY: "Well let's examine the free determination in government through the popular vote." And the scholars will say: "That's also standard German doctrine—but even in America you have to vote only for available party candidates however stupid and corrupt." So the teacher will say: "Oh well let's study the International Golden Rule—do to thy neighbor as you expect him to do unto you." And the German scholars would reply: "That's just what we have been doing through our history—only we've done it first."

And how would we achieve the meeting of the German minds? On what educational basis can the Allied nations agree? Will it be Russian, British, French or American, considering the existing Allied jealousies of each other's "spheres of influence?"

Or should we import large batches of German youth allocated equally among the Allied countries—bands of chubby faced, bright-eyed German juveniles of the "plastic age." Suppose we try that? We could bring over hundreds of thousands of German girls and boys to be inculcated with the beauties of U. S. democracy, or Russian Communism, or French Socialism, or British Monarchism as the case may be. So we'll indoctrinate them with our languages, customs and cultures and ship 'em home docile, alien-loving German adults, all mixed together like a chop-suey of contrary philosophies. Would that work?

We know it did NOT work following the last World War when hospitable Norse, Dutch and Danes "adopted" hordes of German kids and fed them calory rich foods, afforded them pleasant shelter and free schooling. The sordid record shows that when Germany invaded these countries the same German refugee kids, grown adult, came with the first assault waves by benefit of their knowledge of local customs and language. To the vast dismay of the hospitable neighboring nations they found Germany had used their kindliness as a means of devouring them. So if not that what else? And has any nation, including those recently liberated, evinced the spirit of gratitude thus far for our lend-lease aid which will deter them from clamping an economic toe hold on us if given the post-war chance?

So this is no rebuke to you, dear sir or madame. I only ask you to come down from high-altitude theory to concrete cases. What and how?

Ferriss Seeks 8th Win

By HUCK FINNEGAN

After two days of welcome rest the climbing Red Sox will open a three-game series with the Athletics tomorrow at Fenway Park in a double-header. The series opener, set for today, was rained out. Pitcher for the Sox in one game will be Dave Ferriss, seeking his eighth straight win, and capable Emmett O'Neill probably will get the other starting assignment.

It will be Ferriss' second shot against the A's and he can look back at his first meeting with fond memories. He was making his major league debut on Sunday, April 29. He was nervous and wild. He walked three men in the first and was on the verge of being yanked when Skeeter Newsome saved his scalp with a double play. He walked the first man in the second, and he seemed on his way back to Louisville. But he settled down to fan Burns and Newsome, went on to win the game 2-0, a five-hitter.

He's come a long way since then. his record today is seven victories against no defeats. Four of his victories were shutouts, including a one-hitter. He has taken the big league by storm, has won the admiration of public, teammates and foes alike with his modesty and easy smile. In a personality way, he's everything Williams could have been and wasn't.

★ ★ ★

Said Detroit coach Steve O'Neill: "He's a great pitcher, a truly great pitcher. The day he fanned York four times in Detroit with men on, umpire Grieve told me no right-handed batter that ever lived could have hit those particular pitches (all curves). Better, he's keeping his head about him and not being spoiled by all the adulation. He's one in a million. Note how he gives credit freely to all who helped him on his way up. Few boys do that."

Mail comes in to Ferriss at the rate of 25 letters a day. Fans from Mississippi and nearby Memphis have shifted from Yankee rooters to Red Sox rooters all because of the youngster. The Memphis Commercial-Appeal reprints all his deeds of derring-do.

"How does it feel to be getting more than $28 a month?" writes Bib Falk from Randolph Field. To Falk, more than any other baseball man, Ferris gives credit to his rapid rise to stardom.

For a rookie who's been around little more than a month, he bids fair to eclipse even Babe Ruth in his popularity with youngsters. He works out with the kids nearly every morning at Hughey Duffey's Fenway Park school, advising in pitching and hitting. And one recent morning, laundry under arm in Kenmore sq., he was besieged by an army of 100 school boys and spent an hour dispensing autographs.

"He won't get a sore arm from pitching," Cronin answered critics who were "on" him for sending Ferriss in cold Sunday against the Tigers, "He's in more danger of ruining his arm from signing 'Dave Ferriss' again and again and again."

Ferriss, Johnson, Fox, Steiner, Garbark, Ryba and O'Neill were at Fenway Park despite the "No Practice" sign yesterday. Johnson was treated for a Charley horse in his left leg. Fox kept baking his sore right arm. Ryba hoped to give the rest of the troupe a workout, finally decided it was too cold . . . The Red Sox will conduct a "baseball school" for boys 15 and over at Fenway Park from June 27 to 30.

★ ★ ★

The A's were riding high when they and the Sox last met. However, Cecil and Ferriss started them on the skids, and they now are in the cellar. Without Hayes, they'll have a hard time scrambling out . . . Christopher, who won only three games up to July 4 last season, already has bagged eight for the Macks.

BEST EFFORT IS OUT

LOS ANGELES, June 5 (AP)—Jay Paley, radio executive and owner of Best Effort, said last night, he had withdrawn the horse from the Kentucky Derby.

He gave no reason, but added the thoroughbred would be shipped west for the current Santa Anita meeting.

Bat Nelson Still Fit at 63; Blasts Moderns' Training

BATTLING NELSON
"Still Fit at 63"

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Battling Nelson, who celebrated his 63rd birthday today, is ready to start all over again in the fistic game that gave him fame, if not fortune. Trim, sharp-eyed and plenty quick for all his bloody boxing battles just after the turn of the century, the former lightweight champion said he planned to "grab a couple of fair fighters after the war and manage them."

Nelson, who fought three historic bouts with Joe Gans, from whom he won the lightweight crown at Colma, Cal., July 4, 1908, took the day off from his postoffice job.

"I'll just mosey around and enjoy the holiday," he smiled. "I'm still in training, calisthenics each morning and evening. I still weigh around 138, about the same as I did before I used to trim down for a fight."

Nelson has a pair of battered ears, a slightly flattened nose and a disjointed hand, but little else to show for his bitter battles with such immortal lightweights as Gans, Terry McGovern, Young Corbett, Abe Attell, Jimmy Britt and Ad Wolgast to whom he lost his title at Port Richmond, Cal., on Feb. 22, 1910, in a scorching 40-rounder.

Nelson regards the present practice of scoring technical knockouts as a sign of decadence in the ring. "Why, when I fought Christy Williams back in 1902, he knocked me down 42 times, but I knocked him out in the 17th." Bat recalled. "The reason they have to stop fights now is because the fighters don't train properly." Nelson kayoed Gans in 17 and 21 rounds.

Court Lifts Ban; Detroit Track Maps Big Season

LANSING, Mich., June 5 (INS)—Detroit will have an 85-day horse racing season, from June 16 to Sept. 22, as a result of action today by the Michigan Supreme Court in Lansing.

The court issued a stay which temporarily suspended an injunction against the races issued May 22 by Circuit Judge Guy A. Miller in Detroit.

Under the supreme court action, running and trotting horse races with pari-mutuel betting will be permitted in Michigan pending the court's decision on the appeal from Judge Miller's ruling. The circuit court had declared racing in the state unconstitutional and the Detroit track a nuisance. A final decision will be made in the late fall or winter.

General Manager George E. Lewis immediately announced that the track will give a total of $1,754,000 in purses, a daily average of $20,630, in an effort to bring the best possible horses to Detroit on short notice. The Detroit track led the country in purse distribution for two years, averaging $17,525 during last year's 105-day season.

Defense lawyers were asked by the justice whether the nuisance complained of in the circuit court suit could be alleviated. The defense stated that the track could make more frequent manure collections. The track would not use the new barn, erection of which formed the basis of the suit by two property owners, it was stated.

Trotting horses will be the first to get under way now that the ban has been lifted. Sam Weidrick, head of Northville Downs, Inc., which runs trotting horses at the Northville Fair Grounds, announced that racing will begin tomorrow night at 8:30. The Northville meeting will run through July 4.

N. Y. BOUTS CANCELLED

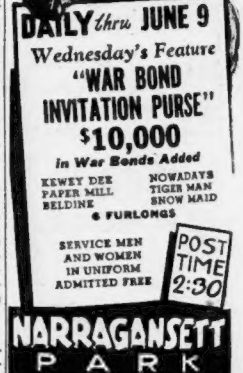
NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—To night's boxing card in MacArthur Stadium has been cancelled because of weather conditions.

Ruffing Given Army Discharge

FT. DIX, N. J., June 5 (AP)—Sgt. Charles (Red) Ruffing of the Army Air Corps, former right-handed pitcher for the Yankees, received his discharge from the Army here today.

Ruffing, who became 40 on May 5, arrived Thursday night to begin the discharge process under the recent War Department order governing release of men over 40.

He said during the week-end that he had no immediate baseball plans. Ruffing, who was inducted Dec. 29, 1942, now is 20 pounds over his best playing weight.



Andrews Has Suffered For Being Star Pitcher

By JACK CONWAY

NATE ANDREWS, Braves pitcher, is once more receiving pitiless publicity due to the fact he is a prominent athlete. Andrews was to return to the Braves fold today after leaving the club in Chicago, returning to his Carolina home and not informing Manager Bob Coleman of his plans.

Once when Nate went on a little celebration at the Braves' training camp at Wallingford, Ct., he received almost as much publicity from the baseball writers as they accord to a World Series game. I did not think at the time, and I have never changed my views on the matter, that the scribes were very charitable to Andrews. It looked as if they did not know what to write about on the day Nate broke loose, and that they made him their subject to help fill newspaper space.

Nate Andrews

As a result of the attention that was drawn to Andrews, he makes the headlines every time he does not eat three meals with the Braves and sleep under the same roof with his teammates. Nate, as a result, is working under a greater mental burden than any player in baseball.

Despite the public remarks of the high people in baseball, all of the big league stars do not follow Sunday school rules. Neither do all of the club executives for that matter.

Other than Andrews, most of these playful parties do not receive any attention. Let Andrews, however, fail to check in at a hotel at a particular hour and one would think that the war effort was being impaired. A great national search is immediately started to determine Nate's whereabouts. The big fellow usually returns to his baseball duties in due time and pitches a good brand of baseball.

Andrews unfortunately is not an expert in timing his departures. His Chicago disappearance occurred on a day when he was slated to pitch. This intensified the mad scramble to find his whereabouts. If Nate had waited another day before he disappeared, he would not have received any attention and he would have popped into Philadelphia in the regular course of business.

Few Baseball Characters

THERE HAVE been fewer baseball characters in recent years. Most players today lack some of the color and nonchalance of oldtimers who had their fun where they found it and still managed to play a pretty good brand of baseball.

Baseball has been overburdened with so many minor club officials that some of the major league outfits have men whose only duty is to check the players in at night and keep an account of how they spend their time. There have even been instances of where clubs have hired private detectives to report on the habits of players when they have not been at the baseball orchard.

I have found in my association with baseball players and with other athletes that human nature does not change very much. The same men do much about the same things from one year to another. I suppose, however, that the hiring of office help to check players may be justified as a move to prevent possible unemployment.

It has a bad effect on the morale of a ball club when the players know their every move is being watched.

Cooper, Javery Oppose Phils

By BILL GRIMES

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 5—After an overnight de luxe trip during which they were quartered in drawing rooms, compartments and roomettes, the Braves arrived here this morning from Chicago. Somewhere along the line, the Braves must have passed Manager Bob Coleman and Coach Benny Bengough who, with their wives, are en route here by motor from Terre Haute and Indianapolis, respectively.

The Braves and Blue Jays open this series today with a twilight-night double-header at Shibe Park.

Morton Cooper and Al Javery will do the pitching for the Colemen. In his first start as a Brave Cooper pitched four hit shut out ball in Cincinnati but on his next time out, which was last Friday in Chicago, rain deprived him of an easy victory over the Cubs. With the Braves leading 6 to 1, in the first half of the 5th inning, time was called and, because of wet grounds, play was not resumed.

Since he has been with the Braves, Mort Cooper has been working diligently hard to round into shape. He has displayed a fine spirit and is determined to bear down at all times, for Bob Coleman.

During the Braves-Cubs double-header Sunday, the official temperature was 42.9, which is many degrees too cold for baseball, especially at Wrigley Field, where a strong bitterly cold wind blew in off Lake Michigan. However, despite the adverse weather, Mort Cooper rushed down to the Boston "bull pen" when the Cubs began to get the gauge of Bob Logan's offerings in the seventh inning. He wore a heavy turkish towel around his neck and stuck down in the front of his uniform shirt. He was ready and anxious to go to the mound but Logan pitched himself out of the jam and went through to a win.

Javery was not with the Braves in Chicago. He remained in St. Louis to take X-ray treatments for his ailing arm. On his last appearance on the mound, Javery didn't have a prayer. He was out of "there" after facing only seven Cardinals, three of whom walked, two singled, one fouled out and the other reached first on an error.

Of course, anything can happen in baseball, but Cooper should not have much trouble disposing of the Blue Jays. And if Javery can pitch the type of ball he did on his last start against the Cardinals, he will get back into the games won column.

Little Dick Culler, who was the sparkplug of the infield early in the season, will be back at short stop this afternoon.

Pavot '45 Debut In $25,000 Withers

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—Pavot, Walter M. Jefford's unbeaten juvenile champion of last year, makes his 1945 debut tomorrow in Belmont Park's $25,000 withers mile. Nine other three-year-olds also are entered.

Winner of $179,040 in 1944, the colt was not entered in the Kentucky Derby and tomorrow's race, his first start this season, will be a prep for his appearance in the preakness at Baltimore on June 16.

School Throne Games Put Over

By MIKE GILLOOLY

If the Reilly's aren't speaking to the Sullivans today, you can be assured it was because of the "dirty" Irish trick that one of the Galway clan pulled at Braves Field yesterday in the opening round of the Eastern State Baseball Championship sponsored by the Schoolboys Writers' Ass'n.

This particular member of the Reilly clan, one Hugh Reilly of Fall River, had one foot across the threshold into the "Hall of Fame" until that Galway Gunner of a John Sullivan stepped up to the plate.

Reilly, 17-year-old right-handed pitcher for Coyle High School of Taunton, hadn't allowed St. Mary's High of Lynn to hit a ball out of the infield for 8 2-3 innings. He'd been in trouble only once—in the first inning — when he pitched nine successive balls to the first three batters. But he followed this up with nine successive strikes to end any hopes of a rally.

But it took that famous "same old shillalah" in the hands of that Sullivan lad to break it all up. It was a costly blooper that dropped safely into right field but it was also costly to Sullivan. He clipped the ball on the handle of his black shillalah and one piece of the bat beat him to first base.

That single bingle banged across the plate the only run that's been scored on the Coyle junior twirler this season.

As a result of this triumph, Coach Jim Burns' outfit, recognized as Eastern State Catholic school titlist with 16 straight triumphs, will move into the semi-final round of the play-offs against Medford tomorrow afternoon.
